Former Coleman Schoolboy Again Wheat Champion

Received Early Schooling Here at Hands of Rev. A. R. Robinson, Now Archdeacon in Nova Scotia.

Herman Treille, who has again captured the crown of wheat king at the International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago, was a schoolmate of some of Coleman's residents. The Grahams, Arthur and Frank, now postmaster, attended school at the same time as Treille in the first school room which is now the club room of the United church. His father built and operated what is now the Empire hotel, in the early days of Coleman's history.

Treille settled in the Peace River country, after attending Alberta University, and was ably assisted by his wife in developing a type of wheat which has won the championship five times, besides which he has won championships in other grains, making 16 in 11 years of competition. His first championship was won in 1926, from his farm in Peace River district.

Many who know little of Treille's early life stare somewhat incredulously when they are told his early years were in a coal mining town, as it is indeed a contrast from the environment of coal mining to that of championship wheat raising. Mr. Treille is to be congratulated on his success.

SPECIAL RAILWAY FARES FOR CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S
Specially reduced fare for Christmas and New Year's between all stations will be offered by the Canadian Pacific Railway, according to information given by Mr. McKinnon, local agent.

Death of Doctor DeLong
Word reached Red Deer on Friday of the death at Pasadena, California, of Dr. E. W. DeLong, following a long illness. Dr. DeLong practised in Red Deer from 1916 to 1923, and during the years of the flu epidemics he gave unwearied service. He was a real baseball fan and gave a hand with the Red Deer club. After leaving Red Deer he practised in Calgary, Vancouver and in Wetaskiwin before illness compelled him to retire. Sympathy will be extended to Mrs. DeLong and to their son, Albert, both of Hollywood, California, in their bereavement.—Red Deer Advocate.

Dr. DeLong was for some time assistant to Dr. Borden in Coleman, and by his genial personality made many friends, who regret to hear of his passing.

Inland Petroleum Held Meeting

With Alex. M. Morrison, president, and Arthur M. Densmore, secretary, shareholders of Inland Petroleum met on Wednesday to consider future operations of the company.

Among the directors present were G. E. Cruickshank; Hillcrest; P. Zoratti and several shareholders of Natal; George Fisher of Natal; Charles Sartoris of Blairmore; H. C. McBurney, R. F. Barnes, and others.

An offer had been made to the company to sell its holdings, but in view of the production records and improved prospects, it was decided to retain the holdings and continue operation.

Musical Festival Executive Met Monday

To wind up the business in connection with the 1936 festival, the executive and finance committee met at the Greenhill hotel with the following present:

J. E. Upton, president; W. H. Chappell, Miss Madeleine Charlton, J. A. Kerr, G. Pattinson, W. Kerr, W. H. Moser, H. T. Hallwell, and Mrs. J. H. Farmer, secretary.

The interim financial report was submitted, and the attendance and ticket sales record was presented by Mr. Chappell, giving exhaustive details and comparisons of the past seven years. The increase in the attendance of children he attributed to the increased interest created through the work of Mr. Moffatt as musical instructor in the Pass schools.

Votes of thanks were ordered to be sent by the secretary to those who assisted in ticket sales, ushers, the ladies who assisted the secretary and adjudicator, and Mrs. Minunzie for the loan of flowers and ferns for the stage.

The annual meeting will be on Monday, January 12, when election of officers for 1937, will be held.

Anticipate Big Attendance At Hockey Dance

The Canadians hockey club will hold their third annual dance in the Community hall tomorrow evening (Friday) at which a large number of club supporters and friends are expected. Arcadians orchestra will play.

How accidents happen! A flagrant instance of carelessness was noticed last evening, when a car proceeding north barged across the main street intersection when it should have given the car going west the right-of-way, and missed a collision by inches.

G. Kellock on Conciliation Board

Will Act with Angus Morrison to Choose a Third Member to Consider Cadomin Mine Strike

Cadomin mine workers have been on strike for several weeks through a dispute on allocation of work. Federal Labor Minister Rogers of Ottawa announced that George Kellock, vice-president of McGillivray Coal Co., has been appointed on the employers' recommendation, they to confer to appoint a third member as chairman. The general manager of the Cadomin Coal Co. Ltd. is J. A. McLeod, former superintendent of International Coal Co. Ltd.

Stores Present Gay Appearance

Christmas goods of all descriptions are displayed in local stores, and there is a sufficient variety to meet all requirements. Journal readers are urged to view the displays and make their selections early, for the time slips away very quickly and there is more pleasure in leisurely shopping and it is easier on store clerks than if left till late in the month.

Local retailers have spared no pains to serve the people, and their prices will be found as attractive and economical as in larger centres. In addition, you have the advantage of seeing the goods and avoiding any possibility of dissatisfaction. Do your Christmas shopping early for service and satisfaction.

Hillcrest Trim Blairmore At Rugby, 38-1

Playing at Blairmore Saturday, Nov. 28, Hillcrest high school rugby squad ran roughshod over a Blairmore outfit to register a convincing 38-1 triumph. A steady front line-backing up the spectacular forward passing of Ed Seaman gave the locals their brilliant win.

Haimer opened the scoring by kicking to the deadline for Blairmore's only point. From then on Hillcrest completely dominated play. A series of sparkling endrums, coupled with an aerial attack, started Hillcrest on their scoring spree.

Blairmore could do nothing as the Hillcrest front line held them in check while the backfield began piling up points. Parker, Drape and Seaman scored for Hillcrest, Seaman converting three touchdowns.

Great praise is due to coach Cyril Richards of the Hillcrest team. In a short time he has developed an amazingly powerful squad composed of a rugged frontline and a shifty, fast-moving backfield. Hillcrest fans are anxious to see the local outfit play on their home ground.

Mrs. William Gate and Mrs. William Jackson held a whist drive in St. Albans hall on Tuesday evening in aid of church funds, nine tables being in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. Sam Howarth, Miss M. Surtees and Mrs. J. Griffiths was awarded the consolation. Mrs. H. E. Gate also held a whist drive at her home last week, five tables being in play.

Mr. Foote, representing the Dominion School of Music, with district headquarters at Fernie, was here on Tuesday making a survey of the possibilities of organizing classes.

Public Opinion Aroused in British Empire

Premier Baldwin Advises King That Government Will Resign if He Marries Mrs. Simpson—Bishop of Bradford Gives Dignified Warning

Throughout the British Empire public opinion has at last been openly voiced over the rumored impending marriage of King Edward VIII. and Mrs. Wallis Simpson, twice divorced American woman.

So strong a regard have the British people for their constitution, that he who is king must be above reproach in his domestic relationships. More has been said about the probable marriage in the United States than in Great Britain, where a discreet silence has been maintained, until the news in the other parts of the world became so openly discussed that the British government was compelled to take cognizance of it.

Premier Baldwin, it is reported, has talked over the matter with the king, and it is also stated that he has the support of other party leaders in the House of Commons that they will support him if he finds it necessary to carry out his threat to resign if the king persists in his supposed intention to marry Mrs. Simpson.

Odds against the Coronation being held have been increased by Lloyds.

Local News

A large entry featured the billiard and snooker tournament which opened at the Rialto Billiard Parlor at the beginning of the week. Handicaps for each entrant were supervised by Jack Hopkins and close and exciting games are anticipated. The prizes will be turkeys.

Max Fratkin spent the weekend in Calgary and attended the Katal Mitzel recital in the Grand Theatre. Miss Mitzel completed her studies in Vienna and other European centres, and her early years were spent in Winnipeg. Dr. Reinhard of Bellevue and Miss Beatrice Trono of Blairmore also attended the recital and spent the weekend in Calgari in the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fratkin in Calgary.

Reactionary Move By Post-Office Causes Protest

Eliminates Statutory Holidays by Requiring Postal Employees to work on Those Days

An unfair and reactionary move by the post-office department constitutes an injustice against postal employees throughout the Dominion. Offices are now required to be open four hours every holiday, including Christmas Day and New Year's, for transaction of all phases of postal business. All weekly half-holidays are to be cancelled. No increased recompense is to be made for this additional labor and attention to duty.

Were such a move made by an industrial concern, it would immediately provoke such a storm of protest that general strikes would result. The postal employees are helpless to revoke such a ruling, and only by an aroused public opinion in their behalf can the government be persuaded of the injustice of this backward move. The Trades and Labor Council at Ottawa has already protested.

If the public are to be given efficient service, the postal employees must be treated fairly and not made slaves to someone's whim practically abolishing their holidays. Boards of Trade and newspapers throughout the Dominion should certainly oppose such a reactionary move by making their opinions known to the Federal government.

Light Beam No One SeesPure African Air Makes Powerful Beacon Light Invisible

Every night a 3,000-foot beam of light is thrown into the sky at the Empire Exhibition at Johannesburg, South Africa, by a 14,000,000-candlepower beacon—yet no one can see it!

The Johannesburg climate is to blame. It has beaten the engineers who set out to make the beam visible for 100 miles. They installed the apparatus in a hollow tower, 150 feet high and dominating the entire exhibition. This they called the Tower of Light.

Their plans have miscarried. All spectators can see on a cloudless night is the glow of the stars, even when the light is fully switched on.

This paradox is caused by the purity of Johannesburg's air. There are no humidity, no dust and no low clouds for the light to be reflected against. The light is invisible, so it is reflected, scientist has explained to the exhibition authorities.

Thus the most powerful light in South Africa cannot be seen. Durban's Bluff lighthouse is only 3,000,000 candlepower and the Cape St. Francis' light is 5,000,000 candlepower, but they dash off on to the sea. If for a second the 14,000,000 candlepower Johannesburg light could be turned down on to the exhibition grounds everyone would be temporarily blinded. Similarly if an airplane would fly in the beam's path, it would be picked out with daylight clarity up to a height of 3,000 feet.

New Means Of LivelihoodFor In Japan Earn Money From Cat Hunting

Japanese poor have turned to cat catching for a livelihood. They sell the cats to makers of musical instruments for manufacture of cat strings.

With a fluttering sparrow as bait and a club for a weapon, the cat catcher starts his work at daybreak—when the toms and their mates are returning from a tour of the night spots.

The cat catcher pulls a string attached to his sparrow's leg. The bird squeaks and attracts pussy who attacks. The cat jumps and the stalker bangs with a club—thereby ending kitty's nine lives.

One hazard—the cat catcher is liable to prosecution for destruction of private property if caught with an animal belonging to someone else.

Nineteen Years Of FlyingImperial Airways Commander Has Flown 1,300,000 Miles

Known as "the Captain Kettle of the Air," because of his pointed head, O. P. Jones, one of the senior commanders of Imperial Airways, has now spent an aggregate time in the air of just over a year and a half, and has piloted aircraft a distance equivalent to 32 journeys round the world.

He has completed 19 years of flying, during which time he has been in the air nearly 13,000 hours, has carried approximately 90,000 passengers without mishap, and has flown 1,300,000 miles. Mr. Jones is only 38.

All Empire Wood

In a letter to the Times, the Chief Royal Engineer notes that as the wayfarer goes up the escalator at Moorgate Station he goes on a trip through the Empire's forests. The whole of the halubatade is composed of beautiful panels of wood from every part of the Empire. Canada, Newfoundland, Africa, India, and Britain itself are rich in timber wealth. But why, he asks, restrict this excellent idea to Moorgate Station?—Canada's Weekly, London.

Woodpeckers do not carry grass and feathers to line their nests, as do many other birds, but they cannot be considered lazy. Few birds work as diligently as woodpeckers in building their homes. They are the master carpenters of the bird world.

Herman Trellie Of Wembley Regains The World's Wheat Crown

Chicago.—Herman Trellie, Wembley, Alta., farmer, regained the wheat crown of the world Sunday at the International Grand Wheat Show, giving him a double "kingship." Trellie became "oata king" Saturday.

The Peace River Valley farmer scored the wheat victory on his return competition after three years enforced retirement because of three previous pins.

In was the 16th time in 18 years that Canada has won the wheat title.

Trellie's sample was called "Reward," a hard red spring wheat originated by the cereal division of the Canadian government's experimental farm. It weighed 66.3 pounds to the bushel.

Trellie, who is 42 years old, farms a 700 acre plot 400 miles north of the international boundary in a region he calls "the land of no drought."

Beaming and confident when his "Victory" variety of oats took the title Saturday, the Canadian said, "My entry is the best we've had to beat in win. It was his 16th grand championship in 11 years of competition, and the second time he has scored a "double" in the grain show. He is the only man ever to do it. His first was in 1926. Each time, he said, he exhibited only one sample of each.

He had won grand championships also in pigs, flocks, timothy and grass.

Louis Peterman of Victor, Mont., who also sat on the wheat throne, took the reserve championship with a winter wheat.

Another crop placed Sunday went to a Canadian—the grand champion in oats. Daniel Wolfe, of Nipawin, Sask., won it with a variety known as "Altaflax West." A fellow Canadian, Lawson Nagel, of Selkirk, Ont., Halidom County, took the reserve championship with "Altaflax East" variety.

It was the grain growers' day to strut in the international amphitheatre, with no judging in the international livestock exposition scheduled for he Sabbath. Except for the horse show, serious activity was confined to the halls of grain.

Canada also annexed two other championships, C. J. Brodie of Stouffville, Ont., exhibited the blue ribbon carload of lamb and Albert G. Gohn of Emo, Ont., winning the top award for the best sample of field beans.

Army Team Wins

Capture The Challenge Trophy At Toronto Fair

Toronto—Canada's army team swept to victory at the Royal Winter Fair horse show and captured the international officers' team challenge trophy, donated by G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian high commissioner to Great Britain.

The trophy, concluding event in the officers' jumping competitions that featured the horse show, was won in a contest with army teams from Great Britain, United States, Irish Free State and Chile.

Winn Scholarship

Edmonton—William Epstein, 24, of Calgary, graduate in arts and law from the University of Alberta, has been awarded the L.D.E. memorial scholarship for 1937; it was announced here. The award value at $1,200 will permit Mr. Epstein to study history and economics at the University of London for a year.

Safety Zones For Neutral Shipping In Barcelona Harbor

London.—The admiral said here the Spanish insurgent leader, General Francisco Franco, had established "safety zones" for neutral shipping in Barcelona harbor in response to repeated British demands.

Franco's capitulation to the British demands came while eight submarines and the depot ship Cyclops were proceeding from Malta to Spanish waters.

The move, informed sources said, was expected to relieve much of the tension created when Franco declared he would blow up Barcelona, if necessary, to halt shipments of arms to his foes.

The admiralty statement announcing the Barcelona guarantee said:

"The following message has been received from the rear admiral of the third cruiser squadron in H.M.S. The News Chronicle said:

Marketing Wheat

Want Wheat Board Operations To Extend To Coarse Grains

Calgary.—Five recommendations to add Canadian farmers were set forth in the annual report of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, made public by L. C. Brouillet, of Regina, at the 14th annual meeting of the Alberta wheat pool.

They were:

1. That the Canadian wheat board operations be extended to coarse grains.

2. That the board should set up its own marketing agencies.

3. That international co-operation should be sought with the object of obtaining price levels for surplus wheat, fair both to producers and consumers.

4. That Canada, through trade agreements, should grant tariff concessions for the purpose of enlarging markets for Canadian wheat.

5. After all efforts have been made, the average annual wheat surplus of Canada cannot be absorbed, that necessary legislation be enacted providing for a quota system of deliveries from the farm.

Show Horses Injured

Belleve Hypodermic Needle Used On Animals At Royal Winter Fair

Toronto.—Owners of three horses from western Ontario stabled at the Royal Winter Fair disclosed their horses, with a total value of nearly $7,000, had been injured by what they believed was a hypodermic needle.

The horses: Bobby Zombro, owned by C. Cole, Delhi; Ceylon Domineer, owned by Innes stable, Simcoe; Patricia Volo, owned by Earl E. Foster, Galt.

The first casualty was suffered when Cole returned to the horse show building from supper to find his horse bleeding. Later Foster and the Innes stable attendants found their animals hurt.

The three men made public the injuries, but could not determine whether there was any connection between these attacks and the collapse of a Toronto woman at the dog show after she was allegedly stabbed by a knife-wielder.

Peace Award Annoys Nazis

Nobel Prize Bestowed On German Pacifist Treated Insult

Berlin.—The German government awarded the of 1935 Nobel peace prize to Carl von Ossietzky, German pacifist just released from custody, a "challenge and an insult" in an official statement.

The biting rebuke of Nazi irritation asserted that "with Ossietzky the Nobel peace prize fell for the first time on one who was sentenced by the highest court of his country as a traitor."

The statement prompted a further "direct reply" of a nature not revealed.

It was distributed as a commentary on an Oslo item by the German news agency briefly announcing the award.

"Bestowing the Nobel prize on a notorious traitor," the statement continued, "is an impudent challenge and insult to the new Germany. A proper, direct answer will follow."

Automobile Menace

Says Drunken Drivers Should Have Their Licenses Taken Away

Ottawa.—Driving of automobiles should be a subject on the curricula of schools and colleges, Recorder Lorne Planté, of Montreal, declared at the national safety conference.

In some schools, he said, pupils were prohibited from having cars and in others they were allowed them only with their parents' consent.

Thus the question whether they should have cars was not dependent on ability to drive, but on "parental intelligence."

Drunken drivers should have their licenses taken away, the recorder said, and all judges and recorders should have power to suspend licenses.

They were:

1. That the Canadian wheat board operations be extended to coarse grains.

2. That the board should set up its own marketing agencies.

3. That international co-operation should be sought with the object of obtaining price levels for surplus wheat, fair both to producers and consumers.

4. That Canada, through trade agreements, should grant tariff concessions for the purpose of enlarging markets for Canadian wheat.

5. After all efforts have been made, the average annual wheat surplus of Canada cannot be absorbed, that necessary legislation be enacted providing for a quota system of deliveries from the farm.

Europe's Mystery Man

Sir Basil Zaharoff Dies Suddenly At Monte Carlo

Monte Carlo.—Sir Basil Zaharoff, so-called mystery armaments salesman, died here Nov. 27.

Physicians ascribed death to a heart attack. His adopted daughter, the Countess de Bourban, was at his bedside.

He was 86 years old and accounted one of the wealthiest men in Europe. In recent years he had lived the life of a retired country gentleman, ruling serenely at Chateau Balcour near Vailangouraud, France, over a retinue of six personal Hindu attendants and a British secretary.

He died at the hotel to which he came 10 days ago on his annual visit. Death was sudden, for he seemed in excellent health for his years, motorizing himself the last evening at the hotel restaurant the day before his death.

Sir Basil, whose fortune was built largely from his armament, shipbuilding, oil and banking enterprises, once was reported to have had a controlling interest in the Monte Carlo gambling concessions, but he never gambled himself.

The delegation included J. H. Weston, Regina, who was elected chairman of the chamber.

Directors elected: J. H. Weston; W. C. McKenzie, Alberta Co-operative Council; Major E. E. Hutton, British Columbia; C. H. Burnell, Manitoba; H. H. Hannam, Ontario; P. A. McIsaac, maritimes; A. H. Mercer, Canadian Dairy Farmers' Federation; L. F. Burrow, Canadian Horticultural Council.

Train Plows Into Elevated Railroad Car In Chicago

Chicago.—A steel electric train which plowed into a wooden elevated railroad car left human wreckage in its wake—nine dead, and at least 65 injured.

The steel train struck from the rear near a northbound station, where the eight-car elevated train, loaded with home-bound workers, waited for a signal from a dispatcher's tower.

The three-car steel train drove almost the length of the last elevated car, littering the tracks with dead and injured passengers.

Chief Deputy Coroner Victor L. Schlaeger announced he would start an inquest. General Manager Bert J. Fullam of the Chicago Rapid Transit Company, terming the accident "one of the worst in the history of the lines," said the firm would conduct a special inquiry.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

COAL put Coleman on the map, as it has other towns of the Crows Nest Pass. Search the records, and you will find that first at Fernie, then later in the Alberta section of the Pass coal brought all these towns into being. It has provided employment for thousands in the actual digging and preparing of the coal for market, for railroad men in hauling it and millions of dollars have been distributed in wages and purchases of mining machinery. It provided opportunities for retailers to establish their various businesses, and ranks as the most important industry in Alberta, except farming.

WHAT the future holds is any man's guess. Ghost towns, once prosperous mining centres, are grim reminders of the ups and downs of the coal industry. Increasing use of fuel oil for railroad locomotives furnishes an example of how a mine's output that once ran up to almost a million tons in one year can reduce its output that now mines only a fraction of its former output.

THESE reflections are not made in a pessimistic mood; they simply review facts. Increased use of natural gas for heating and gasoline for freight and passenger hauling on the highways is another factor that has bitten into the coal industry. Though many whose business and livelihood in these Pass towns depends on coal may view these inroads with indifference, it is noticeable that the local mining executives are fully alive to the necessity of meeting this increasing competition by utilizing methods whereby coal is more efficiently prepared to give greater efficiency. They are staking large sums in improved machinery, and extensive improvements on the surface and below are being made. It may necessitate scrapping hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of equipment; but the long range view is taken in order to maintain the supremacy of the mines in this immediate area, and continue to provide profitable employment for hundreds of mine workers, besides furnishing a local market for retail business.

"OUR Vital Interests are Our Only Politics" might well be remembered as being particularly applicable to the coal industry by all people living in the Crows Nest Pass. The mountainous rocky nature of the surrounding territory precludes any form of agriculture, so that all the eggs are in one basket. Coal furnishes our livelihood. It requires only a very short period of slack time to grimly remind everyone here of the fact, and for that reason it is good business and very necessary for their own welfare that all other lines of business dependent on the coal industry co operate to the full extent of their power in promoting the continued use of coal. The industry is a vital factor in Alberta, and this bituminous area will increase in importance as general conditions improve in the western provinces. We all can help in boosting for coal.

ARCHDEACON Swanson, rector of St. Stephen's church, Calgary, hits back at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute in plain words in stating that lies are being broadcast in connection with the church of England "squawking" over its pension fund being almost wiped out by Social Credit debt legislation. He states the church has asked for nothing from the government, but has appealed to its own people to make good the losses occasioned by this unfair legislation. In the opinion of Institute speakers, all men are liars, except those who speak from the refuge of the Institute's pulpit. All imitate their master's voice in abusing those who will not accept their fantastic economic theories. Such abuse must be fought with logical reasoning.

Whose Savings Will be Next?

The money the people of this Province borrowed was used to provide them the houses, barns, and lands which now give them shelter and in which they do business. They have used them, and they continue to do so. Should they not recognize those who made it possible for them to have those things? Is it just that those who have saved, and who have been thrifty, to provide you with the facilities you possess should now be deprived of their savings?

Let those who look upon the lending companies as "big business" enquire whose money they have enjoyed. They will learn, as we shall tell them in one of the statements to follow.

If the citizens of Alberta pass by lightly the injustice of this Act, what is to prevent their own savings, their homes, their business, their farms and other possessions being taken away from them? Can they feel safe in the enjoyment of their savings? Keep in mind that the confiscation of the property of others is the only first step leading to the confiscation of yours.

You have been told that our Government does not intend to confiscate. The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act would confiscate the savings of hundreds of thousands of people. Whose savings will be taken next?

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loan Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 34 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to citizens of Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The third statement in this series will be published in two weeks)

Death of John Joseph Moores

In the passing of John Joseph Moores at Creston hospital on Monday, death has removed quite a long time and well-known resident of West Creston.

Deceased, who was in his eighty-fifth year, was a native of Lancashire, England. He was married in 1873, and continued to reside in the Old Country until 1910, by which time most of the family had migrated to Canada, and the parents followed. Deceased lived at Michel from that year until 1914, when they moved to West Creston to make a permanent home. Mrs. Moores' death occurred at Creston in March, 1934.

The funeral took place from Trinity United church, Creston, Wednesday afternoon, with many of the friends of the deceased and family out to pay their last respects. The funeral service was taken by Rev. Andrew H. Walker, and interment was in Creston cemetery. The pallbearers were five sons, Sam, James, John, Albert and Matt, and one grandson, Alfred. The high esteem in which deceased was held was evidenced in the many floral remembrances.

To mourn his passing he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Wm. White of Coleman, and Mrs. Beswick of Michel; and five sons, James, John, Matt, of Creston; Sam of Coleman, and Albert at Cowley, Alberta, all of whom were here for the funeral.

Although deceased has been in failing health for some time and the end was not unexpected, his passing is none the less keenly felt, and the sympathy of their many friends is extended members of the family.—Creston Review.

Many Improvements At International Mine

A transformation of the surface area at International mine has been going on steadily during the year, which is a revelation to many who have not had a look around there for a considerable time. New trackage from the north mine, new steel snow sheds, replacement of haulage by compressed air locomotives with electric haulage on the surface, boring of a new and expensive rock tunnel, new hoists, are some of the improvements that conspicuously arrest one's attention, while a new bathhouse, new lamp house and a commodious storehouse have been in use since early in the year.

Also in course of construction is a new cleaning plant to further improve the efficiency of the coal in competition with other fuels. The surface workings have been improved by the removal of obsolete buildings, and a walk around there is quite interesting in noting the changes that have been made.

Opened Bazaar on 77th Anniversary

The ladies of St. Paul's United church at their annual bazaar on Saturday were given a good measure of support, and an interesting feature was the opening of the bazaar by Mrs. A. W. H. McLeod, who that day observed her 77th anniversary. One of the early residents of Coleman, she has always taken an active part in Women's Institute and church affairs, besides being an active member of Minerva Chapter O.E.S. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. McLeod extend their good wishes for continued years of happiness in the town which has been their home for so many years.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Shipments of lower grade cattle, under the drought relief plan, total more than 12,000 head, Hon. W. N. Chant, Alberta minister of agriculture, said in an interview.

Lord Wigram, who was private secretary to King George V, has been appointed a director of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company.

Sharks brought money to the pockets of Halifax fishermen recently when they drove some 40,000 mackerel inshore at an unusually late midnight.

Massachusetts beauty parlour reported receipts of $745,000 in 1935, or $1,700,000 more than in 1933, says The Boston Transcript, dilating on the "permanent wave" as indication of recovery.

Dr. J. W. Browning, Exeter, Ont., the oldest practicing physician in Canada, celebrated his 93rd birthday recently. Dr. Browning is also the oldest Morse telegrapher in this country.

Strikes and recovery are spreading together throughout the British Isles. Economists refuse to believe either one breeds the other in spite of the oft-expressed belief that "increasing strikes denote a return to prosperity."

Restoration Fund

Loss Of $758,000 Suffered By Church Of England Is Fully Made Up

A loss of $758,000 which the Church of England in Canada suffered four years ago as a result of maladministration of its Rupert's Land working fund has been more than fully recovered, Rev. Canon Sidney Gould, general secretary of missions, told a capacity congregation in All Saints' church at Windsor, Ont.

The effort on the part of church members and clergy has had the effect of vindicating the honor, not only of Anglicans but of the whole Christian church, Canon Gould believed. But greater still, he concluded, it had maintained the honor of the Master of the church.

Contributions ranging from more than $5,000 to a few pennies came in, Canon Gould said, but among the outstanding examples of spiritual healing was the case of an Indian woman in the far north.

The woman came to him at the close of a dispensary and insisted he take from her $2 from her $5-a-year treaty money. The $5 represented the only assured income the woman had during the 12-month period.

Another example cited by Canon Gould was that of an elderly English-born lady who looked forward all her life to going back to her home in England, toward which her life savings were gathered. So impressed was she at the loss suffered by the church, she went up the idea of the trip and turned over her entire savings to the fund.

More Spots On Sun

A row of huge sunspots, more than 1,250 miles long and resembling a titanic necklace, has appeared on the face of the sun. Dr. Dinsmore Alter, director of Griffith Observatory, Los Angeles, described them as the most impressive spot group ever seen at the observatory. Sun spots are generally associated with periodic weather changes on earth.

Prize-Winning Apples

Apple Growing In Canada Dates Back To Early Pioneer Days
Canadian apples, which are famous all over the world for their delightful flavor and fine quality, made a good showing at the Imperial Fruit Show at Liverpool, England, this year when Canadian exhibitors won 23 prizes. British Columbia won six first, plus five seconds and two thirds. Nova Scotia apples took seven thirds and three seconds. Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, the other Canadian provinces producing apples in commercial quantities, did not compete.

Apple growing in Canada dates back to the early pioneer days. History records the establishment of apple and pear orchards in the first settlements in Nova Scotia over three hundred years ago by French settlers, and the Annapolis Valley, made famous by Longfellow in his immortal poem, "Evangeline," has for many generations been one of the most widely known apple-producing sections in North America. In the Province of Quebec there are records of apples growing three hundred years ago. In Ontario the first apple trees were planted about 1860, and in British Columbia about 1850.

The Canadian climate is well suited to the production of high quality apples, and the industry, originally intended to provide apples, apple cider and vinegar for home consumption has developed to such an extent that Canadian apples now find their way to practically all parts of the world. In 1935 the Canadian crop totalled 4,432,700 barrels, and exports to 44 countries amounted 2,541,217 barrels of fresh apples.

In the early days of apple growing in Canada little attention was paid to varieties; apples were just apples. Improvement in transportation and storage facilities, the development of export and home markets, and more knowledge gained of the market demand were accompanied by experimental and research work designed to develop the most suitable varieties and the best methods of growing and handling. There are now in Canada good varieties of apples with keeping qualities which enable them to be stored and made available for consumption through practically the entire year.

About Great Men

Something Always To Be Gained By Good Company

Great men, taken up in any way, are profitable to us. We cannot look, however imperfectly, upon a great man without gaining something from him. He is the living light, his life which is good and pleasant to be near—the light which enlightened the darkness of the world—in whose radiance all souls feel that it is well with them . . . No nobler feeling than this of admiration for one higher than himself.

Golden text: I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith. II Timothy 4:7.

Lesson: I. Timothy 6; II. Timothy 4:7.

Devotional reading: Psalm 121.

Explanations And Comments

Concerning Things Worth While
I Timothy 6:11-16. Addressing Timonians, Paul bids him avoid the things which he has been speaking and strive to attain integrity, piety, faith, love, steadfastness and courtesy. These are the traits that God would have those who bear his name strive for a prize far better than money. Prove your righteousness before God, measure them by the example of Jesus Christ for this is the riches. Strive for faith which will sustain you in times of severest trial. Strive for love, that love which is long-suffering.

Strive for meekness, such as you have been exemplified in Jesus, who was patient at all times, even when struck upon and derided, and when you are wronged. Strive to be kind and gentle, for the kind and gentle will prevail in the world. It is all better than gold, than much fine gold. He who attains such riches is not more blessed than he who has little, for earthly riches which will pass? Such have chosen the better part which shall not be taken from them.

Strive to charge you to keep your commandments, grow strong in free grace, till the appearance of our Lord Jesus Christ—which will be brought about in due time by that blessed event. Only Scotland, the land of kings and lords, who also has immortality, who dwells in light that one can approach, whom no man has ever seen or can see. (Mofat translation.)

Paul Crown and Reward, 2 Timothy 4:6-8. Referring to his approaching martyrdom as if already accomplished, Paul writes: For I am come to do thy will and the work of my departure is come. And then he gives voice to his triumphant confession: I have fought a good fight, I have contested earnestly the faith, I have kept the faith which Paul has in mind; like a runner in the games I have finished the course; the contestants keep the rules of the games; I have kept the faith of my course, I have trusted in Christ. I have kept the faith. Hence God I have laid up for me the crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day.

Deficiency Diets

III Health Results From Lack Of Mineral Salts

When it is well known that ill health will result from the lack of adequate amounts of lime, phosphorus, iodine, iron, and other essential mineral salts in the diet, why not avoid these dangerous diet deficiencies by the simple, pleasant and inexpensive expedient of including in the regular menus plenty of Canadian fish and shellfish—fresh, frozen, canned, dried, pickled, smoked? They are nourishing, health-guarding and ready to the housewife's hand in teeming variety. Why starve in the midst of plenty when these fine-flavored, easily digested Canadian fish foods—from sea and freshwater—high in protein, rich in vitamins, and veritable storehouses of essential salts are readily available all the year 'round?

Friday The Thirteenth

Will Not Make Another Appearance Until August 1937

It has never been proven that anything unfortunate really happened to anybody simply because Friday was dated up with the 13th but superstition by any other name, be it legend, tradition or usage, needs no factual precedent to make folks wary.

Friday, the 13th, made his jittery appearance twice this year, with no more significance to the old world's fortunes than he achieved 1900 years ago when some humorist of the period discovered the Gregorian calendar would present this combination 10 times every five years till the end of time—or the calendar.

Origin of the idea 13 as an unlucky number is variously explained. Astrologers of ancient Babylon so declared it. Mythologists of Old Scandinavia gave the number the curse of sages because Balder, their sun-god, had to die when 13 were found in the circle of Valhalla.

Some who would have it idea originated with the Christian era point out there were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot, who next day, traditionally a Friday, betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

Friday the 13th is taking a long solstice. He will not appear again until August of 1937 and only the once this year.

In 1938 his only date with the ween world is in May, but in 1939 he resumes twice-yearly appearances, January and October, with return visits in September and December, 1940.

Canadian Public Libraries

Over 21 Million Books Loaned For Home Use During The Year

Public libraries in Canada during 1935 cost eighteen cents per capita—less than two per cent. of the cost of public schools, and about ten per cent. of the cost of universities and colleges. Public libraries in operation during the year numbered 642, and the expenditure on them was about two million dollars. They lent over 21 million volumes for home use and probably between one-third and one-half as many more to reading-room and reference-room borrowers. Canadian public libraries lend two books a year for every man, woman and child of the population.

In addition to the public libraries, which are primarily urban institutions, travelling libraries circulate in every province of Canada. The object of travelling libraries is to supplement the book stock of rural and semi-public school libraries and to provide some public library service in communities otherwise without any.

Three universities, Acadia, Dalhousie and St. Francis Xavier, conduct such a service in Nova Scotia, and McGill University circulates libraries in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Each of the five most westerly provinces operates a provincial system of travelling libraries with headquarters at the provincial capital.

Short Courses For Farmers

Will Start At Manitoba University After The New Year

Short courses for farmers have been arranged by the University of Manitoba for this winter starting after the New Year. The Dairy School starts Jan. 4 as does also the course in farm equipment repairs and poultry husbandry. On January 18 there are courses in bee keeping and milk production; fruit growing and nursery practice work starts Feb. 1 and a course in egg grading and marketing on Feb. 15.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAVO

"I suppose it was inevitable, but I help it? Yes, jealous of every man you smiled at, forgetting that I was the one who told you to smile! I tried to tell myself that I hated you for your tantalizing indifference. I tried, right from the start, to think of you the worst—the very worst. I didn't realize until I kissed you this afternoon that I loved you; that I have loved you from the beginning."

There was a roaring clamor in Starr's head, a strange thrashing like the beat of jungle tom-toms in her veins, like the sound of those weird drums of the desert, made of stretched goat-skins, that one heard when approaching an oasis. Uncanny, eerie, but so swooningly, deliriously filled with a strange delight.

Michael loved her! The Human of her own Arabian Nights story loved her!

She tried to realize it, and realization brought a gushing wave of feeling right from the almost depths of her being, like nothing she had ever known before, or dreamed of. The first real thing in her life, especially in this soft, smoky, crowded of crabs, dogs, and pirates. Michael loved her!

She did not realize at just what moment he found her hands. She only knew of a sudden that he was holding them, crushing them in a strong grip that hurt and thrashed at the same time. He was begging; his voice was humble.

"It's not too late, is it, Starr? Say it isn't! We'll go away from here. I have enough money. I don't think I ever want to hear of the word again—except for what it will bring to you and me, if you say so—just what I already have. Well go somewhere where no one has ever heard of that wretched 'Play-Girl.' We'll start all over again, in a home of our own where everything will be different..." There was an ache in his voice that petitioned: "Starr! Say something!"

In the darkness her lips moved wordlessly. What could she say? Michael loved her!

She had brought him to this. Yes, deliberately. The tantalizing indifference of which he spoke had been as far from what it was possible to be. It had been part of a carefully-thought-out, elaborate campaign for vengeance against him and against Stephenie Dale. She had wanted to humble the proud Michael to her feet, and then she would have laughed at him! And tossed her head at the overbearingly egotistic Stephenie Dale with all her Peter Stuyvesant ancestry! Sweet revenge!

In this moment of realization, revenge was a boomerang which completed its vicious parabola and landed squarely on Starr Ellidge's own black head. Because she knew in this startling moment that she loved him, too, that a despairing love of him had been the reason for most of the blackest moments of the days since she had known him. That realization overshadowed everything else, even the upheld scythe of the Grim Reaper which was always menacing her.

She loved him, and in all her for-so ready to forgive, to take all blame to himself! If only that were all that lay between them—if only a thing like that, with all it implied, were what was keeping them apart! If only she could have flung herself into his arms and cried:

"I made a mistake, Michael-Hassan! A terrible mistake. But I'm ready to make up for it—for anything—by giving you my whole future, by devoting it, myself, all the love of my full heart, to making you happy!"

How bitter those words: "If only..."

Another voice suddenly cut through the darkness. A form was materializing, outlined against the lighted open window Lance Marlowe's face. Seeking a promised dance. Starr had never been so glad to see Lance since the first time she had met him. She held out her hands to him, laughing.

"It's nice to see I'm not forgotten, Lance! I'm dying to dance!"

Michael said swiftly, under his breath:

"Don't go like this, Starr, without giving me an answer!"

She managed a stricken whisper:

"I can't tonight, Michael—honestly... Give me a few hours—say tomorrow night at Lance's party at the Beach Casino." And then she fled from him.

As the lights from the ball room struck Starr's face when he led her to the open window, Lance said to her:

"You look as if you'd been seeing ghosts out there, Starr."

She murmured: "I have." And for once her painted lips were not smiling.

CHAPTER XI.

Starr was not certain she had been asleep at all when the small ivory telephone at her bedside whirred her to an awakening. Sleepily she picked it up. The voice calling out of the bright morning made her heart spin to a dizziness, then stop altogether. Michael's voice!

If he only knew that it was the remembered tones of that voice which had kept her awake until the sun was high!

It was a cheerful voice, and if he had ever had a rebuff Michael Fairbourne appeared to have forgotten it. There was an undercutting of excitement even in his light tone and words.

"Star?" He heard her sleepy murmur answer. "What? Not awake yet? Arise and shine, honey—I'm coming over!"

Starr was awake on the instant. She shivered in the lulling warmth of the room and the silk and lace of her luxurious bed.

"No, Michael! You can't see at Lance's party—tonight."

She meant to hang up, but somehow she didn't. It was so wonderful to hear Michael's voice—just to hear him.

"Wait!" he was calling through the air. "Don't you dare hang up on me, woman! You hear me?"

"But, Hassan—I'm sleepy..."

No "but's"—get into some clothes, honey... I know you said you'd give me my answer tonight, but I'm not going to wait. Be awake since you're a cold, brilliant, far-away star to me, darling—too long! Tonight you're different. You are a warm, new star. A dear star!"

Somewhere she was away from him. She felt all crushed inside. Paradise so near, and yet she dare not pass its portals. Love—and she dare not take it! Every soft word of his was an extra, twisted agony.

She cried out wildly: "No! I'm a dark star! A doomed star!"

Instantly suspicion edged his voice.

"You mean because of Lance? You mean that you and he—"

The poignant agony of it! He thought that she was trying to tell him that the gossips were right; that she had been Lance Marlowe's mistress.

She must do something—anything! On a wild impulse she cried out: "Yes! Yes, that's right!" Better a thousand times let him believe that, than have him guess the truth.

For minutes that were another eternity, Michael was silent. Starr could only imagine the myriad doubts that tortured his mind. When he spoke again, his voice was strained, but his words almost made the heart leap from her breast.

"That is true," he said, in a tone of mingled resignation and self-condemnation, "then that's my fault, too. I am responsible for whatever has happened to you... It's not late, Starr. I'll take you away. I'll make you forget. I'll make my love for your anaesthesia for forgetting..."

It seemed almost unbelievable! That a man like this could exist in the world. Michael—dear Michael!—

CRAWLED UPSTAIRS ON ALL FOURLS

Owing to Rheumatism in Her Knees

It was not a very dignified way of going upstairs, but she had rheumatism in her knees, and it was the best she could do, at the time. Since then I have been taking Kruschen Salts, and now feel much better. Read her letter:

"I have had very painful gout in my big toe and ankles, and upstairs on all fours owing to rheumatism in my knees. It is over three years ago since I commenced taking Kruschen Salts, and now feel good, but my eyes are quite better. I am over 60 years of age, have a complexion like a girl's and feel very fit. I am fully repaid for the cost of one-half teaspoonful of the exact acid which is the cause of so much suffering."

(Mrs.) A. W.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently caused by deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating your liver and kidneys to healthy, regular action, and help them to get rid of the excess acid which is the cause of so much suffering.

When the invitation came to act as judge at New York, Mr. Robertson replied that he was booked to act at the same time at the Ottawa Winter Fair, where for thirty years in succession he had acted as judge. However, the president of the New York Show wired that the man was one of tremendous importance to the American Poultry Association, and to the poultry industry as a whole that he should make the award in the major competition of the New York Show. The management of the Ottawa Winter Fair, therefore, considered that, in view of what might be regarded as a distinct compliment to Canada, he should go to New York; and for the first time in 30 years George Robertson did not judge at Ottawa.

It was only recently that another high honour was paid Mr. Robertson when at the convention of the American Poultry Judges' Association, held at Topeka, Kansas, in September, 1936, he was elected president of the association.

This is the first time since 1873 when a Canadian has been elected president. Mr. Robertson was further honoured by being elected to the very responsible position of chair of the Standards Revision Committee of the American Poultry Association. For several years he has been a judge at the leading poultry shows throughout Canada and the United States.

Must Be Taught Courage

Fear Plays Large Part In Life Of Some Children

Few adults realize what a large part is played by fear in the life of a child. Some there are who can recall their early days and nights when fear was a very real and terrible sensation and these will look with kindly tolerance upon the child's unreasoning terror. Fear of the darkness, fear of punishment, fear of failure in physical and mental contests, all influence the lives of many children, crippling and handicapping in the race of life.

Parents and teachers should above all things seek to avoid awakening this fear in the child. If the baby cries because he is afraid of the dark, by all means let him have a light.

The trouble lies farther back in the child's life, and only a reasonable lenience can correct it. If later he has done wrong, he must be corrected, but not made to fear his punishment, but to accept it as his rightful due. If as a pupil he hesitates to enter mental contests, he should be urged to do so, not because of the reward he may win, but because of the good the effort will do him.

Nothing is so beautiful as a fearless child. He will tell the truth where the timid child will lie to escape punishment. He will escape physical dangers because of his common sense in regard to risks, where the fearful child will fall a victim to his own lack of initiative. Fear weakens the body and fuddles the mind. Teach the child courage.

Soldiers Like Smart Uniforms

Blue Outfit Might Attract Recruits Says War Secretary

Aldred Duff Cooper, secretary of state, said he thought the uniform a soldier has to wear might be partly responsible for the difficulties in recruiting.

The customary khaki, he said at a recruiting luncheon, was neither pleasing to the eye nor was it congenial with pleasant associations.

He said he believed the solution lay in granting men, both of the regular and territorial armies, a smart blue uniform which some have now purchased for themselves and which they have been allowed to wear "walking out."

His greatest ambition in connection with the recruiting campaign was to be able to guarantee every soldier leaving the army at the end of his period of service with a good character that he would pass straight into a good job.

No Blue Dahlias

Fame and fortune await the producer of a blue dahlia, George A. Richardson, dahlia grower, told the Kiwanis Club at Cincinnati, Ohio. Richardson said dahlias of every color except blue had been produced in sizes ranging from one-half inch to four inches in diameter.

He said a like success awaited the producer of a yellow sweet pea.

Fifty-seven persons were burned to death last year in New York tenement-house fires.

The hardest ups and downs are keeping up appearances and keeping down expenses.

A Notable Compliment

George Robertson Of Ottawa Selected As Judge Of New York Poultry Show

A notable compliment has been paid to Canada by a United States organization. The North Eastern Poultry Producers' Company requested the services of George Robertson of Ottawa, Assistant Dominion Poultry Husbandman, Central Experimental Farm, Dominion Department of Agriculture, to act as judge to select what is known as the hen of the year at their poultry show which was held in New York City from November 10 to 14, 1936. This show is one of the leading annual exhibitions of poultry in the United States and the request for a Canadian judge was regarded one of the highest possible compliments in the realm of poultry judging.

When the invitation came to act as judge at New York, Mr. Robertson replied that he was booked to act at the same time at the Ottawa Winter Fair, where for thirty years in succession he had acted as judge. However, the president of the New York Show wired that the man was one of tremendous importance to the American Poultry Association, and to the poultry industry as a whole that he should make the award in the major competition of the New York Show.

The management of the Ottawa Winter Fair, therefore, considered that, in view of what might be regarded as a distinct compliment to Canada, he should go to New York; and for the first time in 30 years George Robertson did not judge at Ottawa.

It was only recently that another high honour was paid Mr. Robertson when at the convention of the American Poultry Judges' Association, held at Topeka, Kansas, in September, 1936, he was elected president of the association.

This is the first time since 1873 when a Canadian has been elected president.

Mr. Robertson was further honoured by being elected to the very responsible position of chair of the Standards Revision Committee of the American Poultry Association. For several years he has been a judge at the leading poultry shows throughout Canada and the United States.

Two Coleman cars, one driven by Joe Mikuse and the other by Vernon Brown, son of Alan Brown, collided near McInnes hill between Crows Nest and Michel and were damaged to the extent of about $150. Mikuse's car being the most damaged. Fortunately no injuries were sustained.

Mrs. John Burrell, and members of her family, left Monday evening for Drumheller upon receipt of a telegram telling of the critical illness of her granddaughter. The young girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Burrell, former Coleman residents. Mrs. A. Burrell will be remembered as Miss Binnie Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Young, formerly of Coleman, now living at Sudgen. Mr. Robt. Morris returned from Drumheller last evening, leaving Mrs. Morris and her mother there. The condition of their niece is considered serious.

The working of the sub-conscious mind is mysterious and amusing. A well-known gentleman was ordered by his doctor to take a rest in hospital for a few days. There being no room available, he was accommodated in a room ordinarily used for maternity cases. A lady acquaintance in conversation with The Journal, who also knew the gentleman stated she dreamed that she was making enquiries at the hospital as to his progress, and mildly enquired if it was a boy or a girl.

Bill Bell of the Grand Union received an interesting letter from Harry Brown, formerly of Kimberley Dynamiters, who is playing on the Earls Court hockey team in London. His wife is also over their.
